Answer Key

1. Welcome to the PMI-ACP practice exam. The questions on the PMI-ACP actual exam aren't too verbose and are mostly scenario-driven. At the end of each section, I'll provide a quiz like this one. Since this is an introductory chapter, this test is for practice and is pretty light. Let's start with this question:

What's the primary goal of this course?

A. Implement agile project management.

B. Pass the PMI-ACP exam.

C. Earn 21 PDUs.

D. Get certified as a Scrum Master.

B. The goal of this course is to pass the PMI-ACP exam. Choices, A, C, and D are all incorrect answers.

2. Will PMI accept this course for the contact hours as proof of education?

A. No, you can't watch videos for your training.

B. Yes, you can take online, interactive training that tracks your actual completion.

C. No, it has to be an in-person class.

D. Yes, because all training is done online.

B. You can take this course for your contact hours of education. You cannot read books and watch videos, such as DVDs, for your contact hours of education. This course is interactive and your completion rate is recorded as evidence of completion. You'll also complete an end-of-course assessment exam. Choices A, C, and D are all incorrect.

3. What's an exam domain?

A. Domains are your levels of proficiency on test topics.

B. Domains are test topics.

C. Domains are categories of knowledge.

D. Domains are activities the PMI-ACP should complete.

C. Domains are categories of knowledge. Choices A, B, and D are incorrect as these answers do not describe an exam domain.

4. What's the cost of the exam if you're a PMI member?

- A. $129
- B. $435
- C. $455
- D. $495

B. If you're a PMI member, the cost of the exam is $435. Choices A, C, and D are incorrect as it costs $129 to join PMI. The exam fee is $455 if you're not a PMI member. $495 is not a relevant price for the exam fees.

5. You're ready to pass the PMI-ACP exam. Once you get to the testing center how long will you have to complete the exam?

- A. 3 hours.
- B. 3 hours and fifteen minutes.
- C. 4 hours.
- D. 2 hours.

A. The allotted time to complete the PMI-ACP exam is 3 hours. All other choices are not valid timing for the PMI-ACP exam.

6. Which exam domain counts the most towards your exam score?

- A. Agile Principles and Mindset.
- B. Value-driven Delivery.
- C. Stakeholder Engagement.
- D. Team Performance.

B. Value-driven delivery is worth 20 percent of your exam score. A, C, and D are incorrect as Agile Principles and Mindset is worth 16 percent. Stakeholder Engagement is worth 17 percent. Team Performance is worth 16 percent.

7. What is the passing score for the PMI-ACP exam?

- A. PMI doesn't say.
- B. 61 percent.
- C. 64 percent.
- D. 72 percent.

A. PMI doesn't say what the passing score for the test. Choices B, C, and D are incorrect choices for this question.

8. How many hours working on agile projects must you have in order to qualify for the PMI-ACP exam?

A. 2,000 hours.

B. 21 hours.

C. 35 hours.

D. 1,500 hours.

D. You need 1,500 hours of agile project management experience and 2,000 hours of general project management experience. Choices B and C are also incorrect choices for this question.

9. How do you get your certificate of completion for completing this course?

A. It's the last lecture of the course.

B. Email the instructor.

C. Email PMI.

D. You don't get a certificate.

A. That's right; the certificate of completion is available when you've completed the course! I get emails from people all the time telling me they're done with the course and they'd like to get their certificate. Nope! If you're done with the course, you'll see that the final lecture is your certificate. Don't be that guy! Choices B, C, and D are incorrect choices for this question.

10. How many PMI-ACP exam domains are there?

A. Five.

B. Seven.

C. Nine.

D. Thirteen.

B. There are seven PMI-ACP exam domains: Agile Principles and Mindset, Value-driven Delivery, Stakeholder Engagement, Team Performance, Adaptive Planning, Problem Detection and Resolution, and Continuous Improvement. A, C, and D are incorrect choices for this question.
